May Claim Self Defense

With the selection of the jury at 11:20 today, State's Attorney Mark C. Keller briefly outlined the state's case. He was to be followed this af-and Edward Jones who are appearing for the defendant. Throughout the examination of prospective jurors the defense attorneys by their questioning indicated that self defense the defense.

State's Attorney Keller in outlining the case stated that the prosecution the expected to show that the defendant, Elizabeth Dunn, and Nathaniel Moten, now in the East Tennessee state hospital and Archibald Blackwell, came to Dixon from St. Louis for the purpose of aiding Cleo Long, young Negress patient at the institution to escape late Sunday night, June 14. The state will, through its witnesses present to the

THE REAPER AND THE FLOWERS

HERE is a reaper, whose name is Death, And, with his sickle keen, He reaps the bearded grain at a breath, And the flowers that grow between.

Shall we have naught that is fair?" saith he: Have naught but the bearded grain? Tho the breath of these flowers is sweet to me, I will give them all back again."

He gazed at the flowers with tearful eyes, He then kissed their drooping leaves; It was for the Lord of Paradise He found them in his sheaves.

"My Lord has need of these flower-lets gay," The reaper said, and smiled; Dear token of the earth are they, Where he was once a child.

"They shall all bloom in the field of light, Transplanted by my care, And saints, upon their garments white These sacred blossoms wear."

And the mother gave, in tears and pain, The flowers she most did love, She knew she would find them all again In the fields of light above.

Or, no tin cruelly not in wrath The reaper came that day; 'Twas an angel visited the green earth, And took the flowers away.

Honor Birthday Of Mrs. Fredericks

Mrs. A. Seavey and daughter Bess entertained the Prairieville Social Circle Wednesday. Due to the cordial hospitality of the hostesses, and the balmy weather, there was a large attendance, thirty-two members, twelve guests, and nine children being present. It being the birthday of the president, Mrs. Harry Fredericks, the birthday song of the circle was sung, and she was presented with a lovely pink and white birthday cake, preceding the serving of a very bountiful picnic dinner. After a brief business session the program committee conducted a short program at the conclusion of which Mrs. Fredericks was presented with a very pretty end table and a book rack combined. Following a social hour the meeting adjourned to meet in two weeks, February 3, with Mrs. Alfred Strook, who resides north of Sterling on the Stock road.

Sunshine Class Met Last Evening

The Sunshine Class of St. Paul's church held their monthly meeting at the church Thursday evening, with eighteen members and two visitors present. The retiring president, Mrs. Rees, opened the meeting, and after installation of new officers, the new president, Mrs. Addie Eastman took charge. After the transaction of business matters, the meeting was closed by a prayer by the teacher, Mrs. Minnie Smith. A social hour was then enjoyed.

Mrs. Hanson Hostess Wawokiye Club

Mrs. Charles Hanson who resides on the Ridge Road entertained 21 members and friends of the Wawokiye Club Wednesday January 20, in an all day meeting. The ladies arrived with well filled baskets and a most delicious picnic dinner was enjoyed.

The president called the meeting to order in the afternoon by all joining in singing the club song: "Brighten The Corner Where You Are." This was followed by Scripture reading. The Roll Call followed and then the minutes of the previous meeting.

Mrs. John Hamilton was appointed to buy some staple groceries for a needy family who live in the country.

Mrs. Rose Reese gave an account of a poor family helped since the last meeting.

Mrs. Hanson then took charge of the program and the following program was given:

Reading—Eva Bearbower.
Reading—Mrs. Lowery.

Reading—Mrs. Hoban.
Reading—Dek Little.

Reading Mrs. Johnson.
Reading—Mrs. Hill.

Song—Eva Bearbower.

A harmonica duet with guitar accompaniment.

Everyone present was grateful to Mrs. Hanson for a pleasant meeting.

The club will meet in two weeks, on February 3rd, with Mrs. Arthur Hoban.

Pleasant Meeting At F. Scholl Home

A joint meeting of the Palmyra units of the Farm and Home Bureau was held at the home of Frank Scholl Wednesday evening following a picnic supper which was greatly enjoyed. During the evening educational talks were delivered by Farm Advisor C. E. Yale and Home Bureau Advisor Mrs. Syverud. Aristocratic Orchids Are Much Cheaper

By RUTH OWAN

Chicago, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The price of romance, as gauged by flowers, has dropped to fourth and a half this year from what it cost last January to "say it with orchids or roses."

Fragile orchids, most exclusive of flowers, are on the bargain counter.

Vases of the delicate blossoms in the conventional orchid color are prominently displayed in floral shop windows blantly labeled: "Special—$1 to $3 apiece."

Just last year they cost $5 apiece, at least, and many rang the cash register at $10 and $12 each.

Green orchids, favored by many red heads, can now be had for three for fifty cents. A dollar apiece used to be cheap.

The reason the orchid has had to take a cut, one florist explained, is that it has stiff competition for popularity with the fragrant white gardenia.

Also, he added, there just haven't been as many corsages of any kind sent out this year.

Gardenias retailed at $1 apiece through the holidays. Now they can be had at 35 cents each.

Flowers in general, with the exception of the early spring flowers—jonquils, tulips, pansies and violets, both potted and cut, have decreased in price from a fourth to a half from January, 1931, tag labels.

November Wedding Now Announced

Announcement is made that Miss Eva Robinson of Dixon and Fred Schwenk, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Schwenk of the Prophetstown road, were united in marriage at La Salle November 18. The young couple are making their home in Dixon where friends wish them happiness.

Joy Bringers Club Held Meeting

The Joy Bringers club met at the home of the president, Miss Elma McCarter, January 15th.

A picnic supper was served at 6 o'clock, the hostess furnishing roast beef, mashed potatoes and coffee.

After supper the meeting was called to order by the president, Leota Deitz gave the lesson in a very able and pleasing manner, which showed that she had spent considerable time in preparation.

Mrs. Kranov then had a little treat for each of the girls. Each girl present brought a live chicken which was sold and the proceeds are to be used for the good of the society.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Hubby Hicks, Feb. 19th. They are planning a Valentine box

WASHINGTON'S PICTURE.

Probably it is too bad that New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art had to cast aspersions on the famous painting of George Washington crossing the Delaware within a few weeks of the 200th anniversary of Washington's birth. Granting that the picture was artistically defective, it is probably one of the most widely known paintings in North America; and it will be, for years to come, whether art critics assail its merits or not.

And that, by a somewhat round-about route, leads one to wish that the camera, especially the movie camera, could have been invented a couple of centuries earlier than was really the case.

This painting, like many others, owes its existence to our intense desire to have history illustrated. It isn't enough to read about things; we want to see, we want to know exactly how things looked at the moment they were happening. To read about Washington's dramatic thrust at Trenton is exciting. To see a picture of it, even a poor picture, is better. So we get such paintings, and grow fond of them, even though we know that they are bad paintings.

But what wouldn't we give for a few photographs! Some photographs of Washington himself, for example. We have plenty of paintings, but they don't quite make him clear to us. They contain too much of the painter; they look too noble; they don't quite come alive. If only some newspaper photographer could have caught him, say, when he was chatting with Lafayette, or when he was at ease in some inn, or when he was leading his troops into action!

And the newsreels would be priceless. If we had just a few smudged feet of blurry film showing the ragged Continentals on the river bank above Trenton, this painting would never have had to come into existence. Half a reel of Valley Forge would be worth all the Revolution paintings in the world. History would be living stuff, in that case.

But we have none of these; so in spite of the Metropolitan, we'll continue to be fond of this heavily criticized painting.

WHAT TO PUBLISH?

The extensive survey of the publishing industry in America, concluded recently by investigators for the National Association of Book Publishers, asserts that the publishing industry is in a very bad way because publishers are incurably hopeful and fail to chart the sales possibilities of projected books as accurately as they might.

Publishers, the survey says, have a habit of believing that each book that is published may, with a break in the luck, become a best seller. This permits unsound principles of book selection to operate, with the result that the publisher loses money on a tremendous percentage of the books he issues.

That there is room for vast improvement cannot be doubted. But the publishing industry will always be exempt, to a certain extent, from the rules of ordinary business. There will always be books that need to be published, whether they are to make money or not. A good publisher must be something of an optimist. If he is too good a business man, literature is apt to suffer.

FAST FREIGHT TRAINS.

One of the ways in which the railroads plan to hit back at the motor trucks which have taken so much business away from them was cited recently in Detroit by Julien L. Eysmans, traffic vice-president of the Pennsylvania railroad, who declared that much speedier freight train schedules are now being worked out.

"Freight trains," remarked Mr. Eysmans, "can be made to run on just as fast schedules as passenger trains, if sufficiently attractive inducements to do so arise."

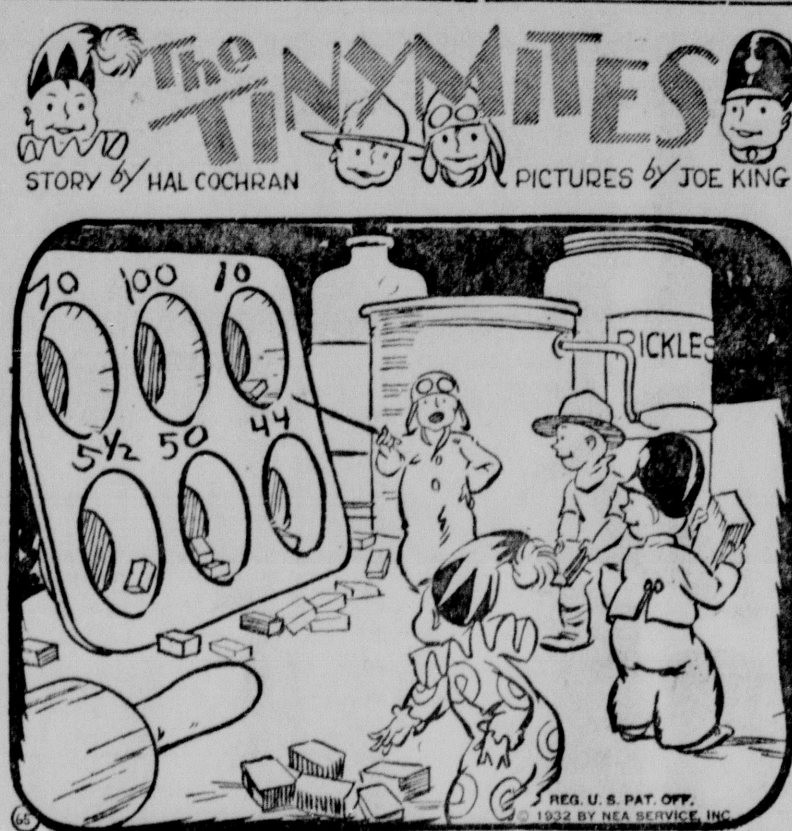

His implication is that the job is going to be done; and it sounds like an eminently sensible way of meeting the problem. Trucks have taken business from the railroads because, in many instances, they can move the freight from shipper to consignee more rapidly. By matching their speed the railroads would overcome the trucks' greatest advantage.

Good heavens, the more experience a woman has from life, the more likely she is to realize that a home and children is the only real, permanent happiness.—Lilyan Tashman, Movie Actress.

Carrying the banner or marching in the ranks, seems to me to make little difference.—Newton D. Baker, Democratic Presidential Possibility.

Our nation needs sweetening up; too many people are growing crusty.—Dr. J. Stanley Durkee, Brooklyn Minister and Educator.

The school draws upon itself criticism not so much by reason of what it fails to offer or accomplish but by its inability to do the work of the school, family, and the church combined.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia U.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

With all the Tinymites out of sight, the big canary took to flight. It sailed around from room to room, then landed on the floor. Said Scouty, when it sang a bit, "Aw, I am not afraid of it. Come on, let's get acquainted. It is not mad any more."

"All right, lad, we will follow you," said Duncey. "Then, if what you do, does not lead into trouble, I am sure we'll have some fun. Be careful that it doesn't peck you on your little face or neck. If it begins to chirp real loud, I think you'd better run."

Then Scouty whistled sweet and low. Said he, "That is the way I'll show the big bird we are friendly. Get some crackers for its lunch." And, when the crackers were brought out they pleased the bird, without a doubt. Said Windy, "He is happy now. That was a happy lunch."

"Just watch me," Scouty said.

BILL FOR WAR CABINET

On Jan. 22, 1918, Senator Chamberlain introduced in Congress a bill providing for a War Cabinet. This bill received the vigorous opposition of President Wilson.

Russian delegates to the Brest-Litovsk conference decided on Jan. 24 as the date to refuse Germany's peace terms. These terms, calling for cession of Courland and the Baltic provinces to Germany, met with the delegates' disapproval.

The drive started up the Pieve by the French on Jan. 20 was highly successful. This date found the Austrians pushed back to yield the whole salient, enabling the French to push their defense line north from Monte Montefenera to the shelter of the Calcaia Torrent and Monte Spinocchia, closing the eastern gateway to the river.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

BY THE UNITED PRESS

Washington, Jan. 22.—Eugene Meyer, who will be Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, has devoted his entire life to the higher phases of banking. Yet he looks so little like the so-called "banker type" that only Wednesday he was mistaken by a visitor at the Capitol for a committee clerk. The visitor strolled up to Meyer, who was sitting in a witness chair at a committee hearing and asked him: "Where can I find Senator Norbeck?"

Meyer gave him the desired directions and proceeded with his business. The visitor never knew that he was talking to one of the most powerful financial figures in the world.

Meyer made a fortune for himself between 1901 and 1917 as head of his own banking firm—Eugene Meyer, Jr., & Company. Its physical accommodations were typical of him. Instead of marbled lobbies on Wall Street, Meyer had corner offices high up—the 17th floor or thereabouts—in the Bankers Trust Building in New York. When a fanatic set off a bomb in front of J. P. Morgan & Company in Wall Street in 1920 Meyer was sitting at his big black mahogany desk in a corner office and looked down upon the whole scene.

When he was called to wartime duty by President Wilson in 1917 he was director of many corporations. He resigned all his directorates and joined the War Industries Board. He has been in the government service ever since. He closed out his banking business. Meyer remained with the War Industries Board until the War Finance Corporation was formed. He became its managing director, a position much similar to the one he will hold with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. He served with it until it had done its work of maintaining the solidity of Liberty Bonds and preserving the financial structure of the country during the war and the years immediately following. Then he went to the Farm Loan Board and from there to the Federal Reserve Board, of which he now is Governor.

During much of his career in government finance he has been under fire from individual opponents, the most persistent of whom is Senator Brookhart of Iowa. Year in and year out, Meyer appears before committees of which Brookhart is a member. Brookhart fires barbed questions at him. Meyer snaps back biting answers. It has become an act.

Meyer is a modest dresser. He carries glasses on a ribbon and usually a gold watch chain encompasses a generously filled vest. He is of moderate height. To see him one would write down that there was a man of great determination. He talks little but what he says is positive. His manner is nervous.

Few know that he is a native of Los Angeles, Calif., and attended the University of California a year before going to Yale where, in 1895, he attained his A. B. degree. Two years of study of finance in Europe followed.

He is married and the father of five children—Florence, Elizabeth,

Eugene, Katherine and Ruth. In Washington he lives in a comfortable house on G Street. His country place is at Mt. Kisco, New York, where he indulges a love for flowers.

Wood Drops Attempt To Cut Wages Now

Washington, Jan. 21.—(UP)—Rep. Will R. Wood, Repn. Ind., today dropped the present his attempt to cut government salaries.

He informed Chairman Pou of the House Rules committee that he would not attempt to tack a rider on the pending agricultural appropriation bill providing for general salary slashes in the government service, which would include Congressmen.

AUTHORITY ON PRINTING WILL VISIT MT. MORRIS

Typographers Of No. Illinois Asked To Hear Him

Through the courtesy of the Intertype Corporation, arrangements have been concluded for the appearance of Gilbert P. Farrer, famous authority on typography, at Mt. Morris Friday.

To accommodate employees on night shifts Mr. Farrer will lecture at 2:30 P. M. and again at 8:00 P. M. for printers from neighboring towns and cities.

Mr. Farrer holds an outstanding position in the printing world, being Typographical Counsellor for the Intertype Corporation, Director of Typography, Conde-Nast Press, New York, and is Consulting Typographer for such publications as Saturday Evening Post and other Curtis publications. For ten years he conducted a course of typography at the New York University, and is now similarly employed by the New York Employing Printers. He is editor of "Who's Who in the Composing Room."

Mr. Farrer has received recognition as a writer, since 1912, writing special articles on typography for Printer's Ink publication and is author of "How Advertisements are Built", which is published by E. Appleton & Company.

He is a lecturer of exceptional ability and has a free and easy style which always leaves the audience with a desire that he continue long after his allotted time has been used.

His talks are so interesting, clear and forceful that every listener is certain to carry away some valuable suggestion which will be an aid to the solution of his personal printing problems. Mr. Farrer uses a projection camera for the purpose of illustrating.

Through the courtesy of Kable Brothers Company, there will be no admission charge.

Says Many Tunnels Undermine Mexico

Mexico City, Jan. 21.—(AP)—A declaration that ancient tunnels undermine much of the western half of the state of Oaxaca, where last week a large cache of treasure was found in an ancient tomb, was made here today by Professor Ramon C. Robles, Mixteca Indian who is Federal inspector of schools for Oaxaca.

The professor declared that old Mixtecan hieroglyphs tell of tunnels meeting all the principal Mixteca cities and fortresses with the capital and royal city of Tliltongo. He said the longest of these tunnels was more than thirty miles.

They were built, he said, for protection and quick communication, one or two have been partially explored. Others have caved in their entrances have been hidden by action of nature.

The professor also declared that the ancient Mixtecs, who were the finest goldsmiths known to western civilization, had a method of mining metals with juices of herbs which rendered the metals so pliable they could be moulded like clay.

The secret has been zealously guarded, he said, in the hills of Oaxaca and still is practiced, but it never has been revealed, because some Mixtecs never have acknowledged the dominance of the white man.

Senate Committee Favors Dole Bill

Washington, Jan. 21.—(UP)—Acting in direct defiance of administration policy the Senate Manufacturing committee today voted to report favorably a bill providing $375,000,000 of federal funds for the destitute unemployed.

The bill upon which the committee acted was the measure sponsored by Senators LaFollette, Repn., of Wisconsin and Costigan, Dem., of Colorado. It would make $125,000,000 available before July 1, and the remainder during the next fiscal year. The money would be allocated to the states to provide for the unemployed.

The committee vote was 6 to 2. It was understood that Senators McNary, Repn., Ore., and Goldsborough, Rep., Md., voted against the new measure.

Believe 8-Month- Old Murder Solved

Mansfield, O., Jan. 21.—(UP)—Officers of Allen county today believed they had solved the mysterious slaying of Earl Truesdale and Thelma Woods of Lima, which has been under constant investigation for more than eight months.

Lloyd Ziegler, Lima, serving time on a robbery conviction in the Mansfield reformatory, told his cellmate, Earl Fraunfelder, that he with James May 22, and Donald Smith participated in the slaying of the young couple whose bodies were weighted down and thrown into a deserted quarry near Lima, May 30, 1931.

O'CONNOR APPEALS
Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 21.—(UP)—Thomas (Pat) O'Connor, one of two East St. Louis, Ill., men sentenced to prison for alleged participation in the $2,500,000 robbery of the Lincoln National Bank here, filed an appeal to the Supreme Court today. O'Connor, now serving a 25-year prison term, listed a number of errors in his appeal. He claimed the lower court erred in overruling a motion to vacate judgment against him and in overruling his motion for a new trial.

Good Thoughts for Good People

There can be no secure peace now but a common peace of the whole world —James Harvey Robinson.

When the drums of peace begin to roll, men without valor should not respond. . . . Peaceful people have got to learn that their game is up, unless they show the world that all the glory and glamour are not on the side of swords and shells, that there is a courageous victory to be won, through the perils of peace and that it will take daring and hardy folk to win it.

It is public opinion drugged and slumbering which retains war, and it shall be public opinion freed and awakening which shall abolish it.

But dream not helm and harness a sign of valor true; Peace that higher tests of manhood Than battle ever knew.

This we can be certain of: the nation that trusts good, loves good, practices good, need fear nothing; it will certainly be protected by Principle. . . . How easy it is to picture nation at perpetual peace with nation when each shall have come under the rule of Principle, divine Love.

And the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness quietness and assurance forever.

—Isaiah 32

The special meetings are progressing splendidly, with good attendance and fine interest manifested.

The presentation of dogmatic subjects seem to be well received, generally, by those in attendance.

The subject to be considered this evening will be "Man's Present Nature, and the Meaning of Death."

The same subject will be continued in the next meeting. It has not yet been decided whether there will be services Saturday evening or not. If so, the subject will be further considered on that night, otherwise the subject will be continued on Sunday at 11 A. M.

The regular Sunday services will be held as follows:

Sunday school at 9:45 A. M.

Preaching services at 11 A. M.

Preaching Services at 7 P. M.

The special meetings may be continued next week, but it will not be fully decided until Sunday morning.

A hearty invitation and welcome is extended.

BRETHREN CHURCH Franklin Grove

The revival which began January 10th has progressed with good interest and attendance.

Rev. A. E. Thomas and a delegation from the local Presbyterian church were present on Tuesday night.

Wednesday evening Rev. J. P. Baldwin and a group of his people from the Brethren church at Sterling were present and a chorus of their young people rendered beautiful musical selections.

Rev. B. C. Whitmore and a delegation from the Brethren church at Dixon were also present on Wednesday evening contributing a musical selection by a male quartette.

Two of our Sunday school girls have expressed their desire to unite with the church and live the more abundant life. Many others should follow their splendid example. As Christians and non-Christians we are the more responsible for having had the opportunity of hearing the appeals through song and sermon. Rev. Rarick is a man of God and is discharging his part in a very commendable and creditable manner. What is our response?

Are we living up to the light and knowledge we have? The church is the greatest organization on earth. Christ's teachings not only are the greatest code of ethics but contain the only plan of salvation for "There is no other name under heaven whereby we can be saved."

Will you help make the close of this Evangelistic campaign a grand and glorious success, a time of spiritual refreshment in the presence of the Lord?

Friday and Saturday evening services start at 7:30.

Sunday school at 9:30.

Preaching services with inspirational sermons at 10:30 and 7:00 P. M.

PILES ALL GONE

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles go quickly and don't come back, if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead.

Salves and cutting fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonard discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in 960 cases, he named it HEM-ROID.

Rowland's Pharmacy says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back—Adv.

SLAYER'S PARTING MESSAGE LOVE TO UNKNOWN MOTHER

Sing Sing prison—the only message he ever received from her.

It was in a brown package enclosing a rosary enfolded in a note on which were scrawled these words: "From your mother."

A few hours later Mrs. Crowley, the foster mother he had called "mom," left him alone with the rosary. She wept as her two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Kennedy and Mrs. Alice McNally, walked with her through the dimly lighted, steel barred corridors out of the great prison doors.

Called For Warden

An automobile whisked the family away in a pouring rain. Crowley called a guard, asked for a newspaper, wasn't interested, then called for Warden Lawes.

"Try to see me again," Crowley said as they clasped hands in parting.

"Don't know if I'll be able to," Lawes responded.

"You come back or I won't go," Crowley told him.

The warden sent some ice cream. Crowley shared it with Ruth Brown, Negro woman sentenced to die later.

9:30 P. M. Crowley told guards he would "make no fuss" when he went to the chair. Father John McCaffrey had advised him to pay the penalty without the bravado that had marked his life.

10 o'clock: Helen Walsh, the sweetheart who turned state's witness and whose testimony helped send Crowley to the chair, ended her vigil outside the prison gates. She had pleaded in vain for a "good-bye kiss."

Crowley would have none of her. "She wants to sell the story to a newspaper," he cried. The sweetheart, who pined for him had given the tip that sent a hundred or more police to Crowley's last hiding place where he was captured with Miss Walsh and Rudolph Durlinger, later electrocuted for another crime.

Brewer Wins Suit Against Uncle Sam

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22.—(UP)—A verdict for $14,000 in favor of George Reich, 86, former head of the Reich Brewing Company, was returned in United States District Court here yesterday in a suit brought against the federal government.

The suit involved payment of income tax in 1921 by Reich in which he was not permitted to deduct for stock losses which he claimed amounted to $175,641. Reich maintained the brewery stock declined in value when the prohibition law became effective.

Judge Louis Fitzhenry ordered a verdict in favor of Reich. The award of $14,000 includes interest to date as well as the cost of the amount.

Art Of Walking Made Dangerous By Modern Roads

Washington — Walking is more dangerous in the country than in the city, recently commented the bulletin service of the American Game Association, which in its capacity of championing wider enjoyment of the outdoors has joined the American Society of Municipal Engineers and other groups in pointing out the need for walkways for pedestrians along modern highways.

After a two-year survey of the situation, a special committee of the national engineering group has declared that "On account of the absolute dangers to life and limb, most people who formerly gained much in health and happiness by walking from place to place have forgotten this habit and pleasure because of the evolution of roads and highways into speedways. And yet there are still enough pedestrians availing themselves of this right so that thousands are killed or maimed annually due to the absence of any reasonable protection of travelers afoot. This is in spite of the fact," the committee observes "that a large percentage of the families taxed to provide greater convenience for motorists are themselves compelled to use the roads of the nation for purposes other than motoring, at an increasingly serious risk."

The committee learned that while progress of safety education have somewhat reduced the number of accidents in cities, serious accidents in rural territory have continued to show a considerable rate of increase. No state, however, has yet properly way construction even where this is most seriously needed.

"America is not yet completely a nation of motorists," said George C. Warren of Boston, chairman of the committee, "and we should hope that at no time will we lose the art of walking through the country as recreation."

FLU EPIDEMIC TO REACH HIGH PEAK DURING THE YEAR

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22.—(UP)—An influenza epidemic of greater proportions than any experienced in Illinois since 1929 will appear within the next two or three months, Dr. Andy Hall, State Director of the Public Health Department, declared in a statement issued here today.

Hall's prediction, he said, is based upon the fact that influenza runs in three-year cycles, and that this is the peak year. In support of this, his statement set forth figures tracing the fluctuations of fatalities in Illinois since 1920.

"Prevalence of influenza," Hall said, "during the last two weeks, indicates that the disease is running true to form this year and that a sharp wave of minor magnitude may be anticipated during the next two or three months. In 1920, which was a peak prevalence year, 5,192 deaths were attributed to influenza in Illinois."

"In 1921 fatalities dropped to 595 only to raise again to 1,682 in 1922 and then again to 2,665 in 1923. This cycle feature was exactly duplicated in the next three years when 1,015 and 1,584 and 2,016 deaths were charged against influenza in the years 1924, 1925 and 1926, respectively."

Belvidere and Dixon, tied with DeKalb for the lead in both divisions of the North Central conference, clash tonight on the Dixon hardwood court. Basketball fans have an excellent opportunity to view one of the strongest prep teams in this section of the state when the visitors take the floor. The second teams open at 7 P. M.

For the home outfit a changed lineup will start the heavyweight contest. After losing three of the five games thus far Coach Sharpe has performed some drastic changes on the Dixon squad. The following array will make up the heavyweight squad tonight. Forwards: Bales, Henry, Mitchell; Centers: Fordham, Bellows; Guards: Brown, McReynolds, Potts. Belvidere has been included on the Dixon schedule the past two years and the locals have yet to register a victory over them. However, the Dixonites are planning a surprise for the visitors with a much improved brand of ball. The locals suffered two losses last season at the hands of Belvidere by 17-9 and 16-8.

The Belvidere five are confident of scoring their third straight victory in the conference race and the eighth consecutive win of the season. Coach Patrick has an extraordinary strong team in his initial year of coaching at Belvidere. His starting lineup will be picked from E. Whitehead, Johnson, McCartney, forwards; King, Larson, centers; Mitchell and Cunningham, guards. This squad has tasted defeat but once in nine starts.

Two competent officials in the persons of Fred Parker of Mt. Morris and A. Schletter of Rock Island, have been secured for the games.

SPORT BRIEFS

Chicago, Jan. 22—(UP)—Even money was quoted today on the Lou Brouillard-Jackie Fields 10-round welterweight title bout at the Chicago Stadium next Thursday night. It will be Brouillard's first attempt to defend the title he won last fall from Jack Thompson, California Negro, in a 15-round bout at Boston. Fields formerly held the title, losing it to Thompson.

Oconomowoc, Wis., Jan. 22—(UP)—The six members of the women's team which will represent the United States in the winter Olympics at Lake Placid, N. Y., next month will be selected in the national speed skating championships here Saturday and Sunday. Seven events are scheduled for men and three for women, all of the latter at the metric distances. The entry lists totals 232.

Chicago, Jan. 22—(UP)—Seven Chicago White Sox have signed their 1932 contracts. The latest to sign were Bill Cissell, shortstop, and Paul Gregory, rookie pitcher from Atlanta.

With Owner Wrigley, President Veeck and Manager Hornsby absent from the city, the Chicago Cubs have issued no information about their activities. Veeck is expected to return from Arizona Feb. 1.

Chicago, Jan. 22—(UP)—Undisputed first place in the big ten basketball race will be at stake tomorrow night when Northwestern meets Ohio State at Evanston. Northwestern, defending champion, has won five straight games and Ohio State, surprise team of the race, has won three in a row.
In two other games Saturday night Michigan meets Minnesota at Minneapolis and Chicago plays Illinois at Urbana. Michigan, in third place with three victories and one defeat, holds a 30-25 decision over Minnesota. Illinois, which has won two games and lost two, is favored over Chicago, beaten in both its starts.

'LEAPING LENA' REAL MANAGER FOR HER BOXER

Woman Handles Affairs For King Levinsky Chicago Fighter

Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—"Leaping Lena" is swinging into action. In a small office, hazy with smoke the only woman prize fight manager in the country electrified the atmosphere with orders as her camp made ready today to leave for New York, where her brother, King Levinsky, will fight Max Baer January 29.

"Br-r-r-r—" jangled the telephone. M. Lena Levy, christened "Leaping Lena" by her ring associates, grabbed it, shooting a promoter, a trainer, several interested hangers-on out of her inner office.

"I'm expecting a call from New York," she explained.
"Hello, hello. What's that? Fifteen rounds? No! No!" she exploded.
"The King hasn't trained for 15 rounds."

She paused as the King, 21-year-old happy pugilist, who has met Carnera and other sport page big names and last week defeated Paulino Uzcudun, eased into the room.
"Well?" demanded his manager.
"I got a date tonight," announced the King, known also as the "King-fish" from his one-time occupation of fish peddler.

"Just a minute New York...you have not, King!"

"Sorry, sis, she's a blonde."
"Can't help it. Sit down and keep quiet," and as the King grinning settled his 194 pounds into a chair, Mrs. Levy returned to the phone.

"No, he just can't fight fifteen rounds"—then in an aside: "See, that's part of my job, keeping things from getting too tough"—"compromise on 12? Don't see why. You'll call me back later? All right."

Aside went the telephone. Mrs. Levy—small, feminine, fighting her way, and reputedly very successfully, in a typically man's game—lit a cigarette with quick characteristic moves that recall to mind her ring-side applause when her brother is battling away.

Looking at her, one could almost hear her shouting from the ringside, as those who have attended the Levinsky fight have heard at the ringside.

She gave up the proprietorship of a fish market to manage her brother a year ago as an outcome of dissatisfaction with his previous men managers.

And the King continues to get into the bigger money. She personally sees to his food and training in addition to tending to the finances and booking the bouts.

And then there are her own two boys, Edward, 19, and Adolph, 17.

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Jan. 22—(UP)—Thud! thud! thud! and a couple bang, bang, bang!

That's the way my illusions are dropping by the wayside these here balmy days.

My latest disillusionment came right out of a clear sky, unexpected and I want to tell you it hurt me way down deep.

It happened like this:

I was standing outside Jimmy J. Johnston's office in Madison Square Garden with a bunch of boxing writers. Inside, Jimmy, Joe Jacobs, Johnny Buckley, Jack Conway and Jack Sharkey were haggling over this, that and the other in regard to the Schmeling-Sharkey fight (2). For hours they haggled. The door opened and Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, walked out.

"Joe," we all cried, "tell us what is happening. What is all the arguing about? The anti-foul rule? Where is the fight going to be? The referee?"

"Don't be a bunch of mugs," Mr. Jacobs came back. "Don't be a bunch of saps. What the hell you think we are arguing about? The weather? The price of bananas in Hamburg? We are arguing about the only thing that counts—the money. And is that ain't plain enough for you, we're arguing about the cut, the smackers, the long green, the dough, the thing it takes."

Say it ain't true, Joe. Say it ain't true. That's what I felt like crying. Money! Money! So that's what they think about, eh? And all the time me a-thinkin' they fought for the glory, the love of country, home, the wife and kids, the sweet-heart, mama and papa.

I don't care now whether Sharkey wins or gets knocked sprawling on his back. I had planned to sit hard by the ringside and root for the Boston sailor, believing as I did that each left hook to the German's fat belly, each right cross to the German's jaw, each one-two to the German's profile was just another blow for democracy, the Stars and Stripes, the Constitution, the Navy, and the Monroe Doctrine.

Before he went into conference, Sharkey had his little say about Schmeling.

"So the mugg's going back to Germany, Uh-huh. That's just like him. Going back home and pose as a hero, now that he's shown he isn't afraid of Sharkey. All that I ask is to let me get in the ring with that mugg. If it goes ten heats you can have my share. All I want to do is clip him—clip him clean and hard!"

Sharkey also had his say about Jacobs.

"Smart? That guy showed how smart he was when he didn't come back and have Schmeling take me on in September of the same year we fought. I'd drawn a million and he and Max could have knocked me down about 37 per cent. Instead, they mess around with this 'punch' called Stribling and an exhibition tour that doesn't bring hair-cut money. Smart? Uh-huh. They're smart. Smart, just like a bull."

Field In Billiard

Match Cut To Four

Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—The field had been reduced to four undefeated stars today, as the world three-cushion billiard championship went into its fifth day of play.

Three cushion, the great leveler of billiards, took Jake Schaefer out of the unbeaten class last night, and his chances of adding the angle game title to his 182 ballkline championship appeared remote, considering tougher matches ahead. Young Len Kenney of Chicago conquered Schaefer 50 to 43 in 43 innings.

Still undefeated and tied for leadership were Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, defending champion; and the three veterans, Otto Reisel of Philadelphia, Augie Kleckhefer of Chicago and Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo. all have held the title once or more.

Two upsets marked yesterday's schedule. Jay Boman of Vallejo, Cal., reached real billiard heights to defeat Frank Scoville of Buffalo, N. Y., 50 to 45 in 54 innings, after being down, 41 to 49, as the match neared its close.

Kleckhefer made an uphill fight to defeat Tiff Denton of Kansas City, 50 to 35, but, once started, had little trouble. In the other match Reisel scored the most decisive victory of the tournaments in defeating Bud Westhus of St. Louis, 50 to 25, in 40 innings.

Petrolle Favored To Trim Young Pole

New York, Jan. 22—(AP)—A 9 to 5 favorite to win, Billy Petrolle, veteran Fargo, N. D., slugger, faces Eddie Ran, up-and-coming Polish welterweight, in Madison Square Garden tonight.

They are booked for ten rounds, but there will be more than a little surprise if the bout goes that far. Both are devastating hitters, Petrolle particularly with a left hook and Ran with a right cross.

Petrolle can look back over many a year of fistic campaigning, but he is not yet ready to do that. He's still looking into the future, for he never has been better. In his last start here he knocked out young and promising Billy Townsend of Vancouver and he once gave Jimmy McLarin the pasting of his life.

Ran, a youngster who learning rapidly, outpointed Franta Nekolny of Czechoslovakia and knocked out Jimmy McNamara of New York in his last two starts.

Other ten rounds on the program send Eddie (Kid) Wolf of Memphis, Tenn., against Paulie Walker, New York middleweight; Dave Shade, California middleweight, against Joey Lagrey of New York; and Chick Devlin of San Francisco against Humberto Curi, Argentine welterweight.

Little Confers With Officials At Iowa U.

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 22—(AP)—The second of a series of interviews designed to select a successor to Burt Ingwersen as University of Iowa football coach was planned today with George Little, former University of Wisconsin Athletic Director and football coach, the guest of the Iowa Athletic Council.

The Badgers official who vacated his directorship during the recent athletic upheaval at the Wisconsin school, has not applied for the Iowa position, but Dr. E. H. Lauer, Director of Iowa Athletics, said that because of Little's records he warranted consideration for the job of heading Iowa's coaching staff.

The visit of Little to the Iowa campus follows closely that of James Crowley, Michigan State College coach, who intimated he was interested in the position providing satisfactory financial arrangements could be made.

Dempsey To Appear In Chicago Feb. 18th.

Chicago, Jan. 22—(AP)—Jack Dempsey will appear in a Chicago ring February 18 for the first time since his famous battle with Gene Tunney four years ago.
The Manassa Mauler was signed today for a four-round exhibition in the Chicago Stadium with the probability that King Levinsky will be his opponent, provided the Kingfish will accept the financial inducement Levinsky, with recent victories over Tommy Loughran and Paulino Uzcudun, is the man Dempsey wants to meet.

Dempsey, regarded as a ring idol in Chicago, figures to draw one of the biggest crowds that ever witnessed a boxing show in the Stadium.

Illinois Cattle To Be Tuberculosis-Free

Vandalia, Ill., Jan. 21—(AP)—The prospect of a tuberculosis free dairydom in Illinois by July 1, 1933, as described to the 58th annual state dairymen's convention here last night by Dr. W. A. Evans, the health editor of the Chicago Tribune.

Since 1918, he said, 9,000,000 cows have been tested by the state at a cost of $9,000,000. Eighty four counties have been accredited as having tuberculosis free herds.

Dr. Evans described the growth of the movement for pure milk in Chicago. A quarter of a century ago ago one newspaper in Chicago carried 33,500 words in news stories and 2,500 words of editorial matter, in condemnation of milk and milk products, during a scarlet fever epidemic.

In the last 16 years, he said, not one case of contagious disease caused by impure milk, has been reported.

The dairy industry, he said, has held up better economically than any other farm product.

PHILADELPHIA SOCIETY MAN IS FACING CHARGES

E. H. B. Allen Accused Of Slaying Betrayer Of Sister

Norristown, Pa., Jan. 22.—(UP)—Whether a father has the right to bare his daughter's life to save his son from the electric chair, will figure prominently in the murder trial of Edward H. B. Allen, 24-year-old society tuffman.

The young social registerite is charged with the slaying of Francis A. Donaldson, 3rd, who, the boy's father, Horace Allen, charges, betrayed his 19-year-old debutante sister, Rose.

Allen, now held in the Montgomery County jail on a charge of first degree murder, probably will be taken before the Grand Jury, Jan. 25. District Attorney Stewart, Nase said if Allen is indicted he probably will be placed on trial early in February.

Apartment Shooting
The fatal shooting in the Allen's fashionable Green Hill Farms apartment on Nov. 9 climaxed a series of quarrels over Donaldson's attention to the Allen girl.

The Allen's have prominent in Philadelphia society for many years, while the Donaldsons are comparatively newcomers to the Social Register, being listed during the past five years. With the publication of the 1932 edition of Philadelphia's Blue Book, however, the Allens were dropped while the Donaldsons still were listed.

As Lower Merion Township authorities reconstruct the shooting in the apartment, Donaldson had gone to discuss his attentions to Rose with her father.

An argument followed and Edward was knocked down by Donaldson. He left the apartment, police said, drove five miles to a friend's home in Devon and obtained his rifle. Returning to the apartment, detective officials said, he found Donaldson and Albert G. Lucas, a friend, still arguing with his father.

Struck in Chest
Without a word he fired, the shot striking Donaldson in the chest, police charge.

Horace Allen, the once wealthy wool importer, who claimed he was living in the fashionable apartment as the guest of the manager, told police a different story.

"Before Mrs. Allen's death last April," he said, "asked me to protect Rose from Donaldson. We feared him feared his influence over Rose."

"After my wife's death my business failed and we were forced to leave our home in Haverford and move here as guests of the manager. Then one night Rose said that she was spending the week end with friends at the shore."

"Later she was to join her other brother, William, in Virginia. When she failed to arrive, he became worried and called me. I phoned the friends where she expected to stop, but they said she had left the preceding morning."

Knocked Out Teeth
"Later that night she reached my son's home in Virginia in company with Donaldson and when William demanded where they had been, Donaldson struck him and knocked out two teeth."

"When Rose returned home I questioned her and she admitted that Donaldson had betrayed her in a hotel in Scranton, Pa. I talked with Donaldson and agreed that it would be best to let him see her once in a while to stop any possible scandal."

"Then one night several months ago I was aroused at 2 A. M. I saw a light in her room and went to see why she was so late, when both she and Donaldson had promised to be home by midnight."

"I found them sitting on the bed, and when I objected, Donaldson handled me roughly."

"On Nov. 9, Rose left the apartment shortly before dinner and said she would dine with friends."

Apartment Fight
"I thought nothing of it until about 8:30 when Donaldson and young Lucas forced their way into the apartment. They were both abusive, swearing and cursing. Finally Edward was knocked down. He got up and left the apartment."

"I don't recall how long it was until Lucas and Donaldson started to leave."

"As they reached the foyer, I heard a shot, then Edward came in to the apartment, laid a gun on the chair and sat down on the davenport."

"I know that he was worried over Donaldson's betrayal of Rose because he had always idolized her and tried to protect her."

Former State Senator Fletcher W. Stites, who will actively handle the defense case, is believed to be planning a defense on the basis that Donaldson forced his way into the apartment and failed to leave when requested and on emotional insanity.

Attorney Old Family Friend

John R. K. Scott, best known Philadelphia criminal attorney, and an old friend of the Allen family, is in charge of the defense. Stites, however, as a resident of Montgomery County will be in charge during the trial.

Shortly after the slaying, Rose said that she would never forgive her brother, or father for her sweetheart's death.

Later she visited Edward in the Montgomery County jail with her father, but refused to pose with him for pictures despite his willingness.

For several weeks after the murder, Rose and her father lived with Henry G. Pierce, wealthy friends in Haverford, but recently took a small apartment in Merion.

State's World Fair Commission Convenes

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 21.—(UP)—Members of the Century of Progress Commission, authorized by the last session of the General Assembly to plan the state's participation in the Century of Progress fair to be held in Chicago next year, held their first meeting with Governor L. L. Emerson here today.

Organization of the commission was perfected and general plans were discussed at the meeting. The commission voted to empower Governor Emerson to select an executive committee to confer with the officials of the World's Fair regarding the part the commission will take in the exposition.

The state has an appropriation of $350,000 for the erection of a building at the exposition and preparation of exhibits. Expenditure of this money will be one of the chief tasks of the commission.

Citizens of other countries can enter the U. S. Military and Naval academies by a special act of Congress.

NEW DISCOVERIES CONFIRM VIRTUES OF BRAN IN DIET

Supplies "Bulk" and Vitamin B for Constipation; Also Iron for Blood

For ten years, now, millions have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN a safe, pleasant way to overcome common constipation—with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so often result from this condition.

Recent laboratory tests show that ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. In addition, ALL-BRAN contains twice as much blood-building iron, by weight, as beef liver.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like the "bulk" in lettuce. Inside the body, it absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming. Think how much better it is to enjoy this delicious cereal than to take endless pills and drugs, which often lead to harmful habits.

Two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases with every meal—are usually sufficient. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

HEALTHY CHILDREN

How to Provide Proper Food and Care at a Minimum Cost

Regular Habits, Sleep and Cleanliness Are Essential, Says Noted Child Expert

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a series of six daily articles on the proper care and nutrition of children, published by this newspaper in cooperation with the American Child Health Association. The present depression and unemployment has made this a grave problem in many families where a dollar must go further now than ever before.)

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
(Noted Authority on Child Care
Written Especially for NEA Service and The Evening Telegraph.)

The first thing a mother worries about in hard times is the health of her children. Naturally enough her first thought is about proper food, and she is right. Nourishing food is necessary to life and health, as we all know—but there are other things that are quite as important.

This is easily proved by the fact that many children with every advantage for health are sickly. Sometimes, of course, there is a sound reason for the privileged child being ill, but more frequently the trouble can be laid to the door of irregular habits, too much or too rich food, lack of fresh air and sunshine, and even occasionally to dirt and improper sanitation. Another factor that is now known to be a straight lead to illness in children mental unhappiness. An unhappy child will rarely be physically perfect.

It may be encouraging, then for the worried mother to know that she can do much to keep her little family strong and well, even though the table does not groan under the weight of fine and varied foods.

Soap and water are just about the greatest gift God has bestowed on us, because a clean body not only makes for health but it has a direct effect on a happy, wholesome mind.

Children should bathe every day, or at least every other day. A house scrubbed clean and with everything in order comes next.

So I put soap and water first because everything starts from there. Discouragement and depression take on less frightening visages when cleanliness and neatness greets them.

The children should be taught their own responsibility in keeping themselves clean. Their heads should be washed every week—they can do this too, as well as take their own baths, if they are over four years old.

Clean clothes and clean bedclothes, of course, are as necessary as clean bodies. And this brings us to fresh air at night. All children are indoors too much. They get so little through the day that compensation must be made at night. Put a window up but see that the little folk are not in a draft. Course muslin tacked over a frame and set in the open window lets in the air and breaks the current or a screen should be set up between the bed and the window.

The children should be warmly covered so they can sleep well. Watch out for very bitter nights, and watch young babies. Babies cannot safely breathe air of extremely low temperature for any long period. Many babies get pneumonia because young mothers do not realize this.

Sunshine is not only a medicine but a good food. It contains a vitamin that we often buy certain vegetables to get. When there is any sun shoe the children out into it. See that they are warm and their feet dry when they play. Show them how to breathe deeply. Exercise causes deep breathing—that is the reason it is so good for everyone. But do not keep them trotting until they are exhausted. An exhausted body is ready for disease.

Regular habits for meals and sleep are absolutely essential to the healthy child. To bed on the dot (and that early), then up in the morning on the dot. Meals on time, too.

Hot food in cold weath is best for breakfast and lunch. Cooked cereal with whole milk, an egg or a piece of bacon, toast, and if possible a little stewed fruit either dried or fresh makes the ideal breakfast before school.

Certain foods now are very cheap. Our cheapest and most plebeian vegetables are the most nourishing. Milk is the best food of all, and that too is reduced in most places.

Keep the children away from other sick or complaining children. And if they cough or sneeze themselves, be sure each has a handkerchief or bit of clean cloth to hold over his face.

Let us try to keep the children as well and happy as we can for they are our men and women of the future and deserve everything we can do for them.

DISARMAMENT IS NECESSARY ITALY WILL TELL WORLD

The Maintenance of Large Forces Is Too Much For Country

BY THOMAS B. MORGAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Rome, Jan. 22.—(UP)—For Italy disarmament or at least limitation of armament is a pressing necessity. The drain on the country's economic fibre that would ensue should European nations become involved in a race to arm, is a possibility that Italy wishes to avoid.

Italy wishes security as much as France, but her viewpoint on that vital question is almost opposite. She believes that security may be obtained through disarmament much more effectively than through armament. He can, through logic and reasoning, decide her probable enemies in case of war. This done, she would negotiate with these powers for a mutual reduction in armament which would leave them equally strong or weak in militaristic equipment.

As Italy's aspirations in territory have been in collision with those of France, it is logical for her to consider France as one of her probable enemies. France is far richer than Italy and can count on several smaller allies, such as Jugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Consider Possible Enemies
Therefore, any consideration of Italy's armed strength ought to be, must take into consideration these probable enemies.

Recent disarmament discussions developed into a conflict between the Italian and French viewpoints.

The more armed European nations are spending from one quarter to one third of their income in the maintenance of military establishments. This, Italy insists, could be eliminated with arrangements to cut down the military expenditures.

The Italian government has announced that it will reduce to the very lowest figures, even to 10,000 effectives, provided this number is not surpassed by an continental power. It applies to both naval and air armaments.

Accept Any Plan
Premier Mussolini has announced his willingness to accept any method of reduction, either by reducing effectives or by a reduction of the budgets.

The recent year's truce in armament construction is thought here to be a decisive step to clearing the atmosphere at Geneva for the February meeting. The nations will have a taste of what cutting down military expenditures means and they will have greater confidence in a disarmament policy.

Italian national aspirations in territory are set aside indefinitely to further disarmament policy. No one mentions Corsica or Tunis as part of Italian claims nor is Lalmatia heralded as the next Italian acquisition.

The present budget appropriation for the army is 2,989,515,554.40 lire (approximately $157,342,000) to provide an armed force of 220,000 effectives. This does not take into consideration the Royal Carabinieri or military police, which number number roundly 50,000 nor the Fascist militia in active service, about 16,000 men.

Young Cuban Pianist Featured
Jose Eschaniz, renowned 26-year-old Cuban pianist, will be the guest artist, with Josef Koestner and his orchestra of thirty pieces, on the Civic Concert Service program over an NBC-WEAF network Saturday, from 7 to 7:30 P. M. CST.

Among the selections which this young Cuban pianist who is noted particularly for the refinement of his technique, will play is Bach's "Gigue," from the French Suite in G Major as his opening number. Others include Debussy's "Golliwog Cake Walk," "Dance of the Mayors," by De Falla and Liszt's "La Campanella."

Eschaniz has concertized extensively throughout Europe and America, and is considered by many critics to be one of the outstanding pianists of the day.

Stations associated with NBC in the midwest through which the program may be heard are WMAQ and WOC.

Finale of Cameramen's Meet to be Broadcast
Festivities of the ball and dinner of the Chicago News Cameramen's Association, which will climax a three-day news picture exhibit, will be broadcast by the National Broadcasting Company on Saturday evening 11 to 11:30 P. M. CST from the grand ball-room of the Palmer House in Chicago.

Short addresses by Governor Louis L. Emerson, of Illinois, Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago and T. Emmett Byrne, prominent Chicago attorney, will be interspersed with music.

The presentation of the Walter Gregory Cup, to be given for the best news picture of the decade, will be an outstanding feature of the broadcast. The cup was provided by Walter Gregory, manager and director of the Palmer House.

Two ace masters of ceremony will be on the program, Ben Bernie and Jean Paul King, NBC announcer. The Chicago Civic Opera has made available two of its stars, Serafina Di Leo, 19-year-old soprano, who made her debut this year, and Paolo Maron, young Italian tenor.

Modern vogue of music will be expressed by Jane Froman, NBC indigo ether star, and Pat Kennedy, a popular tenor.

The cup will be presented to the winning photographer by the donor who will be introduced by Emmett Byrne. Many celebrities of the stage, now in Chicago, will be called to the microphone to say a few words.

Among the midwest NBC associated stations through which the program may be heard is WMAQ.

THE BASIS OF FAT

Despite the protest of many a fat person that he gains weight "on nothing at all," it is a fact established by scientific inquiry time and time again that the one basic cause of obesity is over-eating. When the poet inquired of all-wise Echo about matrimony, Echo replied, "It is a matter of money." And undoubtedly Echo, questioned about obesity, would declare, "It is a matter of calories." More precisely expressed, obesity is the result of the available energy of the diet being greater than the energy needs and transformation of the individual. The obese person who denies that he overeats is not deliberately mis-stating facts. He undoubtedly firmly believes that his diet is spare.

Most commonly, he judges the diet in terms of bulk alone, not realizing that there is a very marked energy content difference between a plate of rich bean soup and a half a head of lettuce, both of which may bulk alike when eaten.

Many of those who believe they eat but little gather their impressions from their meals; and forget that while they eat little at the table, they consume a good deal between meals.

Candy, nuts, pastries, and cakes eaten between meals may add up to a larger caloric value than does the meager food eaten at meal time. To the body economy food is food, whether eaten at the table with fork and knife, or pinched from the pocket by thumb and forefinger.

To these observations there are but few exceptions, and these fall under the classifications of glandular disturbances.

It is known that in instances where the thyroid gland, for example, fails in its normal secretions, a condition known as myxedema develops, in which a pudgy obesity is one of the common characteristics.

The final conclusion, however, is,

THAT in the minds of the public, advertising has a decidedly distinctive place. It has been put there by the definite policy of persistent advertisers in advertising only the best in quality.

Well advertised products, on account of their high quality and the service they give have proven themselves the best time and time again. It is a well known fact that persistent advertisers never substitute for quality. Substitutes for quality never satisfy.

Discriminating buyers demand advertised products for their quality is guaranteed and they always give complete satisfaction.

Of the many methods of advertising created, none has met with such cordial appreciation as advertising through the printed page. Advertising through the printed page meets every requirement of every line of business. It surpasses in economy and brings better results than any other known method of advertising.

Good advertising not only brings business but builds prestige. Wide-awake business concerns profit by its service.

More and better advertising will create a desire on the part of its readers to possess. Persistent advertising means more sales and more sales means more profits.

The world knows that persistent advertisers always keep step with progress.
